Clydebank Housing Association Celebrates 10th Scottish Housing Day with Tenants Afternoon Tea and Launch of New Core Values

Clydebank Housing Association (CHA) proudly celebrated the 10th annual Scottish Housing Day by hosting a special afternoon tea for tenants — an event that brought neighbours together and highlighted a strong sense of community.

The theme of this year's Scottish Housing Day, on Wednesday 18 September 2025, focused on the vital role of good neighbours in promoting wellbeing and helping us live well in our homes. CHA used the occasion to launch their newly developed core values, created in partnership with their staff team and Management Committee, and also to provide a special gift to those in attendance, in light of it being their 40th anniversary year.

The afternoon tea with staff, held at CHA's offices, offered tenants an opportunity to relax, connect with neighbours, and reflect on what makes a great community. It also provided the perfect backdrop to introduce their new core values, which guide CHA: Respectful, Accountable, Supportive and Community Focused.

Speaking about the event, Sinéad Farrell, Customer & Corporate Services Manager, said, "Scottish Housing Day is an opportunity to celebrate the impact of housing on people's lives. This year's focus on being a good neighbour really resonated with us, as community is at the heart of everything we do – we aim to offer our community more than a home. It was great to launch our new core values and to remind tenants of our newly-launched Good Neighbour Awards 2025, with nominations open until the end of September".

CHA would like to thank all the tenants who joined them for this fun and relaxed event.
